

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM

With over 400 debates, workshops, conversations and cultural events, it can be overwhelming to find your way around the program.

Don't worry – we'll be happy to take you by the hand!

If you are particularly interested in CLIMATE BEYOND DENMARK'S BORDERS, we think you should consider attending these events:

Sponge-City & The Climate City

Dr. Agnes Sachse from the Christian-Albrecht-University zu Kiel explains the "Sponge-City"-idea. The idea uses rain-beds and parks to retain rainwater and prevent floods in the cities. The talk is based on Kiel, where special roads are designed to help handle rainwater. This protects the sewers and helps bring nature into the city. A talk about the cities prepared for the future.

Participants: Dr. Agnes Sachse, Christian-Albrecht-Universität zu Kiel • Julie Skødt Clausen, Poseidon • Morten Korsgaard, projektchef, WSP Danmark

Moderator: Niels Ole Krogh, Journalist, Flensborg Avis

Thursday 29/8 | 13.00 - 13.45 | Blue stage

The Municipality, where Air is Taxed

After the "Energiewende", the energy change, many citizens in Schleswig-Holstein established a form of cooperative society. In some municipalities, the politicians were especially progressive and used the new potential. There is also established a "SoLaWi", community-supported agriculture, which Werner Schweizer will explain further in his talk.

Participants: Werner Schweizer, former Mayor of Klixbüll

Moderator: Niels Ole Krogh, Journalist, Flensborg Avis

Thursday 29/8 | 14.00 - 14.30 | Blue stage

The Reusable House

Marius Bierig is one of Germany's pioneers in the field of sundried bricks and other ecological building materials. For more than 30 years, the engineer has been working on a solution to reuse the materials from a house after a hundred years. Now he has succeeded with the firm "ProLehm" and in Flensburg, all the necessary pieces are produced.

Participants: Marius Bierig, ProLehm • Henrik Bisp, Videncenter Bolius

Moderator: Niels Ole Krogh, Journalist, Flensburg Avis

Thursday 29/8 | 15.00 - 15.30 | Blue stage

The Sustainable Village Hürup

Boben Op is the name of a community in Hürup by Flensburg. The community has during two decades contributed to the sustainability by unifying the local volunteers. The work includes a Tiny House neighbourhood, local district heating through sustainable energy, a common garden, car sharing, repair café and climate-friendly agriculture.

Participants: Marius Bierig, ProLehm • Henrik Bisp, Videncenter Bolius

Moderator: Niels Ole Krogh, Journalist, Flensburg Avis

Thursday 29/8 | 15.45 - 16.15 | Blue stage

Conversation about opportunities & potentials in the green transition

What can be done on a practical and political level so that the traffic across the Danish-German border, when it comes to the green transition, picks up speed? This is the main question that the panel debate will try to answer. The panel will be joined by Germany's ambassador to Denmark, Pascal Hector.

Participants: Pascal Hector, German Ambassador to Denmark • Dr. Agnes Sachse, Christian-Albrecht-Universität zu Kiel

Moderator: Niels Ole Krogh, Journalist, Flensburg Avis

Thursday 29/8 | 16.30 - 17.15 | Blue stage

What can the U.S. Teach Us about the Climate?

a talk between the American Ambassador to Denmark, Alan Leventhal, and the Minister for Development Cooperation and Minister for Global Climate Policy, Dan Jørgensen. The dialogue will make it possible for the American Ambassador to inspire Danish companies, politicians and citizens with the American initiatives on climate issues.

Participants: Alan Leventhal, American Ambassador to Denmark • Dan Jørgensen, Minister for Development Cooperation and Minister for Global Climate Policy

Moderator: Sebastian Mernild, Professor and Head of SDU Climate Cluster

Friday 30/8 | 16.00 - 16.45 | Fællesscenen

Ban Ki-moon; A Global Climate Outlook

Ban Ki-moon participates virtually in the Climate Festival 'Klimafolkemødet' in the Panorama cinema, to give a global insight in the status and consequences of the climate change. Ban Ki-moon begins with a keynote, which is followed by a dialogue between Ban Ki-moon and Dan Jørgensen. They will discuss initiatives and needs in the Global South.

Participation is free, but a ticket is needed: <https://0024.dk/filmdetaljer?movieId=33593>

Participants: Ban Ki-moon, former Secretary-General of the United Nations • Dan Jørgensen, Minister for Development Cooperation and Minister for Global Climate Policy in Denmark

Saturday 31/8 | 10.00 – 10.45 | Panorama Biograferne